INDIANA WOMEN MAY GET VOTE ON CERTAIN OFFICES

Senate Passes Bill Giving Ballot on Jobs Not Mentioned in State Constitution

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 23.—The Indiana senate today passed, 37 to 31, the limited woman suffrage measure giving women the right to vote for all offices not mentioned in the state constitution. The bill was made a Democratic party measure. The action was taken under suspension of the rules.

The bill goes to the house, where it probably will be passed. Gov. Ralston has stated he will sign the measure.

Certain Democratic leaders expressed themselves yesterday as doubting seriously whether the Supreme court would uphold the constitutionality of the law if enacted.

Offices Women May Vote On

The bill would give women the right to vote for presidential electors, judges of the Appellate court, chief of the bureau of statistics, reporter of the Supreme court, attorney general, judges of Superior, criminal, probate, and juvenile courts, county council, township trustee, township advisory board, township assessor, offices of towns and cities, members of school boards elected by the people, and all other offices not provided for in the constitution of Indiana whose office or offices have been or may be created by the legislature.

It would give women the right to vote on all questions submitted to the voters except constitutional amendments. It would give them the right to vote in local option elections.

An Organization Coup

It became known today that the organization forces decided at the last moment in party caucus to pass the bill after the house by a sweeping Democratic vote passed the state wide primary measure, which had been defeated in the senate. A plan earlier formulated to tack to the bill a referendum clause was abandoned.

The recent adoption by the senate of the Stotsenburg suffrage amendment which retains the present provision limiting suffrage to male voters does not affect the bill passed today.

House Passes Appropriations

Over a vigorous protest by Representative Niblack (Dem.) against executive interference with the work of the general assembly, the house passed the regular appropriations bill, 65 to 12.

The house also passed the Feik bill to restrict railroad officials from allowing trains of more than one half mile in length to be operated on any line throughout the state. The bill provides a penalty of from $100 to $500 for each violation.

The committee on judiciary, to which had been committed the Vanborne bill, amending the present housing law to eliminate from its provisions all cities of 30,000 population or less, reported this bill out with no changes in its former favorable report.

While they last, two bundles of old newspapers for a nickel.

RESTRICTS USE OF CHANNELS

British Admiralty Issues New Regulations Governing Navigation

London, Feb. 23.—The British admiralty announces that the Irish channel and the north channel waters lying between England and Scotland and Ireland have been restricted for navigation from today.

The southern entrance to the Irish channel, known as St. George's channel, is between Carnore Point on the Irish coast, and St. David's head on the opposite coast of Wales.

Certain areas of this channel have been closed to mercantile navigation by the admiralty's orders, which also require that all traffic wishing to proceed through the north channel must pass to the southward of Rathlin island between sunrise and sunset. No ship will be allowed within four miles of Rathlin island between sunset and sunrise.

MAYOR HARRISON BEATEN

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Carter H. Harrison, who is finishing his fifth term as mayor of Chicago, was defeated for the Democratic renomination in the primary election today by Robert M. Schwelzky, present clerk of Cook county, by a plurality of more than 75,000.

Although Harrison was an advocate of woman suffrage and he was aided in the campaign by his wife Edith Ogden Harrison, well known locally as a writer, the woman vote contributed largely to his defeat.

Will Hall Thompson had a lead of 2000 over Harry E. Olson, chief justice of the municipal court, for the Republican nomination. Four precincts remained to be counted.
